

Public Speaking Homework for the week 10/5-10/11

I have asked the student to refine their writings on a subject they are passionate about, the goal in this class is to not focus on the writing aspect but to work on the presentation aspect. We as a class have been working on body posture, talking clearly and projecting our voices, making eye contact (that is not awkwardly long with one person), not speaking too fast or too slow. I have asked the students to embody their presentation by walking to either side of the stage and talk to people and really engage the audience. I want the audience to picture what the students are talking about and make them feel it. Using hands to express size or shape is another thing I would like them to work on.

- Home work:
- present between 1 and 2 minutes
- Present 3-5 times to parents or family members (focusing on the things we discussed in class)
- Don't read from their paper (paper is there for notes and to keep on subject)
- Lastly - these will be presented at Monday's(10/12/26) morning assembly. If you can be present for your kids I would like the most people there as possible.

Thank you,
Mr. Schukar
